

Cable tray manufacturing quotation

AI Overview

Cable tray construction quotations depend on material, type, size, accessories, and installation complexity, with prices ranging from $5 to $50 per meter depending on specifications.

Key Factors Affecting Cable Tray Costs

Material: Steel trays are cost-effective and durable, typically $5–$25 per meter. Aluminum trays are lightweight and corrosion-resistant, costing $6–$30 per meter. FRP (fiber-reinforced plastic) trays are ideal for aggressive environments, ranging $10–$50 per meter. Stainless steel is the most durable and corrosion-resistant for high-demand applications.

Tray Type and Design: Ladder, perforated, or solid-bottom trays influence manufacturing costs. Ladder trays are common for heavy-duty installations, while perforated trays allow better ventilation for cables.

Size and Load Capacity: Wider or deeper trays, or those designed to carry heavier loads, increase material usage and cost. Standard load requirements often include supporting 75 kg of cable per meter and concentrated loads like a worker at 70 kg.

Accessories and Installation: Bends, reducers, connectors, brackets, and covers add to the total cost. Installation complexity, including supports and labor, also affects the quotation.

Environmental Considerations: Corrosion resistance, fireproofing, or explosion-proof features can increase costs, especially for outdoor or industrial installations.

How to Request a Quotation

RFQ Forms: Companies like Eaton provide online RFQ forms where you can specify your country, material, tray type, dimensions, and quantity to receive a formal quotation.

Provide Detailed Specifications: Include drawings, load requirements, delivery dates, and any special requirements to ensure accurate pricing.

Compare Suppliers: Check multiple suppliers for competitive pricing, considering both B2B bulk rates and B2C options for smaller projects.
