

Price of Lighting Sockets and Distribution Boxes

AI Overview

Lighting distribution boxes and sockets range from $50 for basic units to over $1,000 for industrial or stage-grade models, depending on type, amperage, and features. Stage and Industrial Distribution Boxes Stage lighting and industrial distribution boxes are designed for high durability, multiple circuits, and safety features such as overload protection and IP-rated enclosures. Prices vary based on amperage and configuration: Portable stage power distribution boxes with multiple sockets and circuit protection typically start around $100–$300 for small units and can exceed $800–$1,000 for high-capacity or multi-phase boxes. PowerBOX rubber distro boxes for stage or theatre use, with 16A, 32A, or 63A options, are priced higher due to robust design, CE/UKCA certification, and IP44/IP67 ratings. Socapex or P17 plug & socket distribution boxes used in professional entertainment setups are specialized and can cost $500–$1,200 depending on the number of circuits and connectors. Residential and Commercial Sockets and Distribution Boards For home or office use, standard lighting distribution boxes and sockets are more affordable: Standard 120V outlets cost $1–$7 per unit, with installation ranging from $150–$350 depending on wiring complexity. Combination outlets or smart outlets with USB or Wi-Fi features cost $8–$50 for the part, with installation up to $350. Legrand distribution boards (Ekinox SPN, ETPN, TPN, or modular DBs) vary widely: small single-phase boards may start around $50–$150, while industrial or multi-phase boards with plug & socket integration can exceed $500–$1,000. Factors Affecting Price Amperage and phase: Higher amperage or three-phase boxes cost more. IP rating and durability: Waterproof or dustproof enclosures increase cost. Brand and certification: Legrand, PCE, and other certified brands are priced higher due to quali...
