

Price of polymer cable trays in Yemen

AI Overview

Polymer cable trays in Yemen, including PVC and FRP types, typically range from $10 to $50 per meter depending on size, type, and supplier. Overview Polymer cable trays, such as PVC and Fiberglass Reinforced Plastic (FRP) trays, are widely used in Yemen for electrical cable management due to their durability, corrosion resistance, and lightweight properties. They are suitable for harsh environments, including industrial, commercial, and offshore applications. Price Range PVC Cable Trays: Generally $10–$25 per meter, depending on thickness, width, and perforation type. PVC trays are cost-effective, lightweight, and resistant to rust and chemicals. FRP Cable Trays: Typically $30–$50 per meter, as they are reinforced for higher load capacity and extreme environmental conditions, often used in oil, gas, and petrochemical facilities. Prices can vary based on supplier, customization, and quantity. Local manufacturers in Yemen, such as Brilltech Engineers and Cable House, offer a range of sizes and configurations, and they provide quotes upon request. Factors Affecting Cost Material Type: FRP is more expensive than PVC due to higher strength and environmental resistance. Tray Size and Load Capacity: Wider or thicker trays designed for heavy cables cost more. Customization: Perforated, ladder-type, or modular trays may increase the price. Quantity and Delivery: Bulk orders and local sourcing can reduce per-meter cost. Supplier Options in Yemen Brilltech Engineers: Offers PVC cable trays with flexible configurations and low maintenance requirements. Cable House: Provides a full range of polymer cable trays at competitive market prices, with emphasis on durability and compliance with industry standards. Unitech (GCC/MENA distributor): Supplies FRP cable trays suitable for harsh industrial environments. For accurate pricing, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly with your project specifications, as prices fluctuate based on material, size, and market conditions.
