

Price quote for electrical distribution boxes near New Zealand

AI Overview

Electrical distribution boxes in New Zealand range from approximately NZD 50 to over NZD 500 depending on size, material, and protection rating. Local Suppliers and Price Ranges Scott Electrical offers a variety of meter boxes and distribution enclosures suitable for residential and commercial use, with prices typically starting around NZD 50-150 for standard meter boxes and small junction boxes, while larger or lockable models can cost more. PB Tech stocks distribution and termination boxes, including fibre termination enclosures and IP65-rated lockable boxes. Prices vary by capacity and features, with smaller indoor/outdoor boxes starting around NZD 100-200, and larger 48-position fibre termination boxes priced higher. Dick Smith provides industrial-grade electrical boxes and enclosures with IP66 waterproof ratings, reinforced locks, and mounting backplates. These are ideal for construction sites, factories, and outdoor installations, with prices ranging from NZD 150-500 depending on size and specifications. Legrand/Trical offers premium New Zealand-made commercial switchboards and meter boxes. Pricing is available on request, but their products are positioned as high-quality, engineered solutions suitable for large-scale or specialized projects.

Key Considerations

- Protection Rating: IP65-IP66 boxes provide dust and water resistance, essential for outdoor or industrial use.
- Material: UV-stabilized plastics or metal enclosures affect durability and cost.
- Size and Capacity: Larger boxes for multiple circuits or fibre terminations are more expensive.
- Locking and Security: Lockable boxes increase safety but add to the price.
- Installation Features: Pre-installed grounding screws, mounting backplates, and smooth cable cutouts can simplify installation and justify higher costs.

Summary

For standard residential distribution boxes, expect NZD 50-150, while industrial or high...
