

South Korean Fireproof Cable Trays

AI Overview

South Korea offers a range of high-quality fireproof cable trays from specialized manufacturers like MOV Limited, Shinkwang Steel, and Wonchang Corporation, suitable for industrial and commercial applications.

Key Manufacturers and Suppliers

- MOV Limited: Established in 1997, MOV specializes in engineered fire protection enclosures and fireproof cable trays for oil, gas, and industrial sectors. They offer products with intumescent coatings, steel enclosures, and removable jackets designed to withstand high temperatures and fire hazards, ensuring compliance with safety standards (MOV Limited).
- Shinkwang Steel Manufacturing Co., LLC: Provides durable metallic cable trays, including fireproof options, with a focus on structural integrity and corrosion resistance. Their trays are suitable for various industrial installations and can be customized for specific project requirements.
- Wonchang Corporation: Manufactures composite cable trays, gratings, and pipe supports, supplying major oil and LNG plants. Their fireproof cable trays are engineered for high durability and reliability in demanding environments.
- Namoo International: Acts as a sourcing and distribution partner for South Korean cable tray manufacturers, facilitating export, licensing, and custom solutions for international clients.

Product Features

- Materials: Galvanized steel, stainless steel, and FRP (fiber-reinforced plastic) for fire resistance and corrosion protection.
- Types: Ladder, perforated, and trough designs to suit different cable management needs.
- Customization: Flexible sizes, configurations, and fittings for tailored installations.
- Safety Compliance: Products meet national and international fire safety standards, minimizing electrical hazards and ensuring reliable cable support.
- Durability: Designed for industrial environments, including oil, gas, shipbuilding, and large-scale construction projects.
